FIFTH SUNDAY OF LENT

Sin no more

What motivated the Pharisees in that confrontation about sin and punishment? They caught a woman in the act of adultery and brought her into the Temple precincts, thronged with people, to shame her as publicly as possible. Then they wanted to carry out the death penalty as laid down in the Torah, namely death by stoning. As an added extra, they wanted to use the occasion to discredit Jesus in the eyes of his followers. “What have you to say?” they demand of him. If his response was simply, “Leave the woman alone; let her go free,” they could accuse him of condoning adultery. But if he agreed with their sentence, he would be seen as lacking in mercy. Jesus saw through their plotting and made them withdraw in confusion.

What did Jesus write with his finger on the ground? The Gospel gives us a possible clue. It does not use the normal Greek word for “write” (graphein), but (kata-graphein) which means to draw up a condemnation. Possibly he may have listed on the ground some common sins against humanity, to make them think. At any rate, his challenge that the person who was without sin should cast the first stone met with no response. Although Jesus did not condemn the woman, neither did he excuse what she had done. “Don’t sin any more,” was both a pardon and a warning to her.

To judge from today’s gospel, the worst of the seven deadly sins seems to be not lust, but pride. The Pharisees’ self-righteousness left them feeling no need to ask God for mercy.

Like the Pharisees, we may be tempted to imagine a God in our own image and likeness, as a stern, punitive father, who can be persuaded to forgive only after our abject repentance. This kind of religion can be cold and loveless. And as St Paul says in the 2nd Reading, trying to relate to God just by strictly keeping the Law is an obsolete kind of religion. Only when we let God’s love, as seen in Christ, to embrace and change our heart, can we begin to grow.

SUNDAY MASS READINGS

Entrance Antiphon - Cf. Ps 42: 1-2

*Give me justice, O God, and plead my cause against a nation that is faithless.
From the deceitful and cunning rescue me,
for you, O God, are my strength.*

Gospel Acclamation - Joel 2:12-13

Praise to you, O Christ, king of eternal glory! Now, now – it is the Lord who speaks – come back to me with all your heart, for I am all tenderness and compassion. Praise to you, O Christ, king of eternal glory!

Communion Antiphon

*Has no one condemned you, woman?
No one, Lord. Neither shall I condemn you.
From now on, sin no more.*

PRAYER FOR SPIRITUAL COMMUNION - LENT
Lord Jesus Christ, you know how we long to savour your sweetness in Holy Communion, and yet this is a time of fast. Help us to remember that in the fast which you undertook in the wilderness for the good of the world, you remained full of confidence in your Father's love, unflinching in the mission you had received, and unfailingly thankful for the presence of the Holy Spirit.

Fill us in the same way, that in this present hour we may not lose our sense of hope and gratitude, so that when this time of fast comes to an end we may truly say with ever greater joy: "Taste and see that the Lord is good! Blessed are they who put their trust in him".

Instead of judging, the accusers must examine themselves

Jesus went to the Mount of Olives. Early in the morning he came again to the temple. All the people came to him and he sat down and began to teach them.

The scribes and the Pharisees brought a woman who had been caught in adultery; and making her stand before all of them, they said to him, “Teacher, this woman was caught in the very act of committing adultery. Now in the law Moses commanded us to stone such women. Now what do you say?” They said this to test him, so that they might have some charge to bring against him. Jesus bent down and wrote with his finger on the ground. When they kept on questioning him, he straightened up and said to them, “Let anyone among you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone at her.” And once again he bent down and wrote on the ground.

When they heard it, they went away, one by one, beginning with the elders; and Jesus was left alone with the woman standing before him. Jesus straightened up and said to her, “Woman, where are they? Has no one condemned you?” She said, “No one, sir.” And Jesus said, “Neither do I condemn you. Go your way, and from now on do not sin again.”

HOLY WEEK SERVICES: The times of our Holy Week services will be published in next week's newsletter.

UKRAINE: The Diocese, through Caritas, is working to keep parishioners informed as to the current situation while we wait for the UK Government to clarify the role that faith organisations and other charities will play in the formal response to refugees entering the UK. Please look at the Caritas news and events page: <https://caritasportsmouth.org.uk>
