25TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Worthy of our time

In today's Gospel, Jesus warns, 'You cannot serve both God and mammon.' Mammon is defined as 'wealth regarded as an evil influence or false object of worship and devotion.' However, Jesus seems to be saying that mammon has questionable value in itself, but can and should be used to do some good.

In his encyclical Fratelli Tutti, Pope Francis makes this same point. He looks to St. John Chrysostom, one of the Fathers of the Church who taught: 'Not to share our wealth [think mammon] with the poor is to rob them and take away their livelihood. The riches we possess are not our own, but theirs as well.' Francis also cites St. Gregory the Great, who said, 'When we provide the needy with their basic needs, we are giving them what belongs to them, not to us.'

As Luke moves toward the climax of his Gospel, his emphasis on reverence for the life and thriving of the poor only grows stronger. Today's Gospel, praising the wily manager, is a gentle introduction to what will be coming later.

Francis wrote Fratelli Tutti as a reflection on the solidarity that humanity could have created when faced by our common vulnerability. Francis described the pre-COVID world as one that, perhaps like the hacienda owner, fed on dreams of grandeur and consumed distraction, insularity, and solitude.

Francis' prescription for such a world goes to the heart of the wily manager's methodology. He calls us to cultivate a shared passion and a community of belonging and solidarity 'worthy of our time, energy and resources.' It's that simple and that challenging.

We might take that last idea as the takeaway from today's Liturgy of the Word. Amos shows us how to look at reality with eyes that perceive how our societal norms grant excess to some, leaving others to languish. Is it not time to ask which of our social systems are truly worthy of the respect they are given in the law? When the unrighteous manager went around the law, might we say that he advanced a community of solidarity? Might Jesus just tell us, 'Go and do likewise?'

No servant can be the slave to two masters

He also said to his disciples, 'There was a rich man and he had a steward who was denounced to him for being wasteful with his property. He called for the man and said, "What is this I hear about you? Draw me up an account of your stewardship because you are not to be my steward any longer."

"Then the steward said to himself, "Now that my master is taking the stewardship from me, what am I to do? Dig? I am not strong enough. Go begging? I should be too ashamed. Ah, I know what I will do to make sure that when I am dismissed from office there will be some to welcome me into their homes."

'Then he called his master's debtors one by one. To the first he said, "How much do you owe my master?" "One hundred measures of oil," he said. The steward said, "Here, take your bond; sit down and quickly write fifty."

To another he said, "And you, sir, how much do you owe?" "One hundred measures of wheat," he said. The steward said, "Here, take your bond and write eighty." "The master praised the dishonest steward for his astuteness. For the children of this world are more astute in dealing with their own kind than are the children of light.'

'And so I tell you this: use money, tainted as it is, to win you friends, and thus make sure that when it fails you, they will welcome you into eternal dwellings.

Anyone who is trustworthy in little things is trustworthy in great; anyone who is dishonest in little things is dishonest in great. If then you are not trustworthy with money, that tainted thing, who will trust you with genuine riches? And if you are not trustworthy with what is not yours, who will give you what is your very own?

'No servant can be the slave of two masters: he will either hate the first and love the second, or be attached to the first and despise the second. You cannot be the slave both of God and of money.'

SINGING If you are a strong, confident singer, please sit in the back pew near our organist, Louis, and support our congregation with the hymns.

POPE'S INTENTION FOR SEPTEMBER Let us pray that the planet's resources will not be plundered, but shared in a just and respectful manner.
